STUDENT ELIGIBILITY

To qualify for the UCLA Re-Application Program at the David Geffen School of Medicine, candidates must:

- Have been previously unsuccessful in gaining admission to any United States medical school,
- Be considered disadvantaged or from a medically under served community,
- Have completed an undergraduate degree or higher from an accredited United States college or university,
- Be a U.S. citizen or permanent resident,
- Have a minimum science GPA of 2.7 or higher,
- Have a minimum combined MCAT score of 18.

Although not required, preference will be granted to legal residents of California.

APPLICATION PERIOD

Applications are accepted from February 1st, and will be reviewed continually through May 31st. Late applications may be considered if the class is not filled.

Note: The deadline is NOT a postmark date, but the last date by which all materials must be received. Application is available at www.medstudent.ucla.edu/prospective/
UCLA RAP is conducted in two sessions:

SUMMER SESSION (6 Weeks)
- MCAT Review
- Mentoring
- Learning, study and test taking strategies
- Professional development sessions
- Individual counseling
- Site tours of the healthcare delivery system and unique diversity of Los Angeles

The program begins the third Monday in June. Please be aware that the six-week summer session requires a commitment of 6 days and some evening participation each week in addition to homework and group study. Therefore, students will not be able to hold part-time employment during summer session.

ACADEMIC SESSION (9 months)
- Individualized medical school re-application preparation and strategies
- Mock interviews videotaped and evaluated
- Regular meetings with program advisors and mentors
- Progress in all academic work will be monitored; minimum GPA of 3.5 is expected for all work attempted during the program
- Participants sign a contract with RAP, agreeing to an individualized re-application plan

The academic science curriculum will be taken at the participant’s convenience through UCLA Extension or a local California State University.
PARTICIPANT’S RESPONSIBILITIES

Upon acceptance of a position in the David Geffen School of Medicine at UCLA’s Re-Application Program, each participant will be responsible to:

• Participate in both sessions of the program
• Enroll in recommended premedical science courses
• Re-take any science courses with grades less than “C”
• Re-take the Medical College Admissions Test, if needed
• Meet all mutually agreed upon appointments with mentors and/or advisors
• Participate in all classes, workshops, off-campus events and study groups, and
• Provide own housing, transportation and incidentals, in addition to any educational expenses, during both sessions of the program.

FINANCIAL RESPONSIBILITY AND ASSISTANCE

The David Geffen School of Medicine at UCLA’s Re-Application Program is made possible by funding from the State of California, UCLA and the David Geffen School of Medicine at UCLA. There is currently no tuition or enrollment fee for participation. Financial assistance and stipends are subject to the availability of funds.
PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

The David Geffen School of Medicine at UCLA is offering a comprehensive, structured re-application program designed to assist promising students from disadvantaged backgrounds who have been unsuccessful in gaining admission to any U.S. medical school. The 11-month program will be conducted in two sessions.

The program begins with an intensive six-week summer session, focused on MCAT preparation. Distinguished guest lecturers will also provide seminars and workshops discussing: academic skills; extensive and lively reviews of biology, chemistry, and physics; self development, time management; financial planning; medical school re-application, and interviewing skills.

An individualized academic-year program that consists of a science curriculum will follow. Participants, in close consultation with program advisors, will select their courses through UCLA Extension or a local California State University. Medical school re-application preparation and strategies will be conducted individually.
